

Tropical Fish Kite

1. Unroll the kite and place face down on a flat surface.

2. Insert one of the thicker spars with only one end cap, into the center dihedral connector and then into the pocket of the corresponding side. Repeat for the other side. Make sure that the dihedral is turned so the wings on the kite are swept away from the bridle

3. Then insert one of the spars with end caps on both ends, into the pockets located in the middle of the kite, and the other end into the tail pockets. Repeat for the other side.

4. Finally, turn the kite over and attach line to bridle and fly!
